

'Tis the season
to be creative

Festive party - dead or alive

INTRO:

For some, the festive period is a time for gatherings and get-togethers, partying and connecting.

Why not use this time to connect with people who inspire and fuel your creativity?

Make the most of those conversations that flow from a general update on life into twisty turny stories and learn more about one another.

ACTIVITY:

Plan a festive gathering with your dream guest list of people (dead or alive) in the setting of your choosing with no limits.

It's a gathering that offers you the chance to ask those all-important questions of people you have always wanted to spend time with.

- Who would be on your guest list?
- Would they make you laugh?
- Could you ask them some of life's most existential questions?
- How does their work or legacy inspire and motivate you?

THIS HELPS:

- Reflect on who inspires you
- Explore your interests
- Plan creatively

alive.